Second Chance Prom ROARS!

You shoulda' seen it. Flaunting everything from beads to boas, feathers, sequins, derbies and pinstripe suits, locals flocked to the Civic Center for their big evening out. It was Amarillo's prom night, Roaring 20's style, and the event was a roaring success on every level! As the year's biggest fundraiser for Martha's Home, the Second Chance Prom, now in its sixth year, provided the unique opportunity to experience prom night again—this time, with grownup friends and significant others. And that opportunity was well-received, as over 800 people turned out for an evening of fun, food and festivities!

The décor was lavish, and food was abundant, with some of Amarillo's finest eateries serving on the perimeters. The Roaring Twenties theme was effectively staged and led to fanciful entertainment, highlighted by a flock of sassy hoofers from Dance Arts, performing a routine to "All That Jazz."

A raucous dustup between Al Capone, Mae West, Henry Ford and Bugsy Malone was settled peacefully with a Charleston contest, yielding this year's Prom King and Queen.
